Planning Service - Public Consultation: North Wales Regional Waste Plan First Review - 2007

The North Wales Authorities have reviewed the North Wales Regional Waste Plan that was originally endorsed by all the Authorities in the Region in 2004.

The aim of the North Wales Regional Waste Plan is to :

“provide a sustainable land-use planning framework for the provision of an integrated and appropriate network of waste management facilities for the region”.

The above document and supporting reports are available to view or download at www.ourwastechallenge.org

You are invited to find out more about the North Wales Regional Waste Plan and to complete the survey form. The intention is to produce a revised and updated Plan by March 2008.

Objections and representations in respect of the above Plan should be sent in writing or by email by 24 December 2007 to:
